domestic sheep. Some years ago a large flock of sheep was driven from the hills of England and the United States. The committee having charge of the flock sent a wagon load of horses to a rocky track near a high mountain. The horses were sent over the track. The sheep were driven to a rocky track made out of hills and rocks.

"What's for your new house?" was the reply. "It's three or four times that and won't cost you anything."
"Where's your house now?"
"Out here, if anybody knows."
"What's your house like now?"
"It's a shack," Wamsutter answered.

"Yes, especially if they are destroying their business," adds the single mom.

News Snapshots Of the Week

The success of the conference of the house of governors at the Kentucky state capitol promises to make this annual meeting of chief executives of our states a continuous event. The accomplishment of Queen Helena of Italy is expected shortly. Suit of government to dissolve the sugar trust for "restraint of trade" mentions Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church and a Utah sugar company, as a defendant. Engineers claim that it will be impossible for Colonel Goethals, chief of construction of the Panama canal, to gain control of the surging waters of the Chagres river. President William C. Brown expects to resign soon as president of the New York Central lines and to take up the raising of horses. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., is favorably mentioned as his successor.

WANTED HIS PAY.

The Husky Jamaican Didn't Care to Work For Nothing.

An English naval officer tells of being on a war vessel which took provisions to St. Kitts, one of the British West India Islands. A hurricane had left many of the inhabitants in a destitute or even starving condition. Hungry crowds gathered at the wharf, but refused to help unload, the food that was to be given to them unless paid for their work.

A similar story sheds light on the Jamaican negro. Some years ago a hurricane devastated the island, and a large relief sum was raised, much of it in England and the United States. The committee having charge of this fund sent a wagon load of lumber to a husky black man whose house had been scattered over the parish. He and his family were living in a rude shack, made out of odds and ends.

"What's that fur?" he asked of the men who were unloading the material in front of his patch of ground.

"That's for your new house," was the reply. "It's from the relief fund and won't cost you anything."

"Who's goin' to build mah house?"

"You are, if anybody does."

"Who's goin' to pay me fur mah work?"—Waynesboro Record.

"Drowning men clutch at straws," quoted the wise guy.

"Yes, especially if they are drowning their sorrows," added the simple mug.—Philadelphia Record.

FIRST TYPEWRITER.

It Was a Clumsy Machine and Practically Useless.

Most persons will be surprised to learn that the typewriting machine is not, as they imagine, a distinctly modern invention. So long ago as 1714 a patent was taken out in England by Henry Mill for "a machine for impressing letters singly and progressively as in writing, whereby all writings may be engraved in paper so exact as not to be distinguished from print."

His machine was, however, a clumsy one and practically useless. It was not until over a century later (1829) that anything more in this line was attempted. Then the first American typewriter, called a "typographer," was patented by W. A. Burt.

In 1823 a machine was produced in France having a separate key lever for each letter, and between the years 1840 and 1860 Sir Charles Wheatstone invented several machines which are now preserved in the South Kensington museum, London.

In 1873 C. L. Sholes, an American, after five or six years' work, succeeded in producing a machine sufficiently perfect to warrant extensive manufacture. He interested a firm of gun manufacturers in it, and in 1874 the first model of the modern typewriter was put upon the market.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Longest Stilt Race.

The longest race ever run on stilts took place from Bordeaux to Biarritz in 1893. The distance is 303 miles.

Every Minute Counts.

A business man from a small southern town was visiting New York. A friend asked him what was the most impressive thing he had seen so far—the high buildings, the subway, the ocean liners or what.

"None of them," was the prompt reply. "The thing that impressed me most was the rush in everything. I was in an office one day, and a young woman, evidently a new hand, was opening the mail. There must have been several hundred letters. She cut one open, took out the letter and laid it in its proper basket."

"Here, that will never do," said the boss. "Every time you lay down that paper cutter and take it up again you are wasting time. Cut them all open first and then take them out. You will save at least ten minutes that way every day."—New York Sun.

A Different Idea.

A well known man had lectured upon color blindness, and at the conclusion of his remarks a collier, who had evidently not grasped his explanations, asked him if he would explain.

"Certainly," said the professor.

"What is this culler blindness, then?"

"Well," replied the learned gentleman, holding up a piece of red colored glass, "supposing that when you look at this you imagine it is green. That would be an instance."

"That's culler blindness, do yer say?" replied the man, with a look of contempt. "I should call it blessed ignorance!"—London Mail.

A little boy was asked by his mother to bring in some wood. Five minutes later his mother, looking out and seeing him sitting in the yard, asked why he did not fetch the wood.

"Oh, I am tired," he replied, "and if I use all my strength now, when I am a boy, what will I do when I'm a man?"—Omaha World Herald.

Courtesy to Strangers.

If a man be gracious and courteous to strangers it shows he is a citizen of the world and that his heart is no island cut off from other lands, but a continent that joins to them.—Bacon.

Hope.

"Hope," said William Dean Howells, "is not really an angel in a diaphanous robe of white, but only the wisp of hay held before a donkey's nose to make him go."

A Red Letter Day.

The Hon. Bertie—Anything unusual happen while I was out, Charles? His Man Charles—Yes, sir; your tailor did not call.—London Opinion.

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, and is connected with the peninsula opposite by a bridge.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes. A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing.

A short distance west of Port Orange are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a place that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. One time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast indigo and sugar cane plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those early days but has been in disuse for forty or fifty years.

A very interesting drive from Daytona is by ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through the principal street of Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland.

SHIPPED CARLOAD OF ORANGES TO JOLIET.

EXTRACTS FROM JOLIET, (ILL.)
EVENING HERALD OF INTERVIEW WITH HON. GEORGE H. MUNROE WHILE IN JOLIET RECENTLY.

A recent issue of the Joliet Evening Herald, of Joliet, Ill., contained an interesting interview with Hon. George H. Munroe, senior partner of the firm of Munroe & Stevens, owners of large orange grove interests here. Mr. Munroe visited his Joliet home on his return to Daytona after attending the Gulf-to-the-Lakes Deep Waterway convention in St. Louis. The car of oranges of which he speaks was forwarded to Joliet last week.

Following are extracts from the article:

"We feel that we are safe from damage by frost this year," said Mr. Munroe, "for there never has been a case in the State of Florida when two successive crops have met that fate. The crop of last year was practically ruined by the frost, and that means immunity from it this year if precedents are of any value."

"When I left Daytona last week the oranges were almost ready for market, and by the time I get back the work will be in full swing. The oranges were then of excellent color, but they were still sour and needed a little time to sweeten, but the quality of the fruit is excellent and it will get to market in good shape. I intend to send a carload to Joliet and then our people can see for themselves what kind of fruit is raised by their townsmen who spend the winter in the land of oranges."

"We employ a different method of cultivation than is used by the fruit growers of California. Situated where we are we have no fear of a dry season and can treat the land differently. We do not work the ground in our orange groves but cut the vegetation and let it remain on the ground as a sort of a mulch and then mulch the trees thoroughly with leaf mold brought from the thickets and swamps."

"We are assured of a profitable market for our fruit and under our system we reap the benefits of it, not the commission man, for we sell direct to consumers and have customers on our books who have dealt with us regularly for years. Our list of patrons is rapidly increasing, for we seldom lose one, and in that way we are building up a large business."

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.
TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

SAMUEL ROSS, A REGULAR WINTER VISITOR, EXPIRED AT HIS HOME ON PALMETTO AVENUE—BODY TO BE TAKEN NORTH.

Samuel Ross, of Bowling Green, Ohio, died Tuesday afternoon, after an illness of but a few hours, at the cottage on Palmetto avenue which he was occupying with his wife for the winter season.

Mr. Ross was seized with a hemorrhage of the lungs, while fishing from the South Bridge Tuesday afternoon and expired about 5:00 o'clock, or shortly after he had been carried to his home. He was about 70 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross had been coming to Daytona for some six or seven seasons and have numerous friends here. It is only three weeks since they arrived for the season.

The body will be shipped this afternoon to Bowling Green, accompanied by Mrs. Ross and her friend, Mrs. Terry. Fred Hartman, of Bowling Green and J. H. Meagley, of this city, will see Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Terry as far as Jacksonville and at Cincinnati they will be met by a son of the deceased, who will accompany his mother home to Bowling Green, where the interment will be made. Mr. Ross is survived by his wife and two children, a son and daughter.

MUSIC HALL GIRL ON WAY.

MUSICAL FARCE TO BE PRESENTED BY GOOD COMPANY IN DAYTONA OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY EVENING.

Lovers of theatricals along musical comedy lines will have an opportunity to spend a pleasant evening at the Daytona theater next Saturday evening, when The Music Hall Girl will hold the boards for a one night stand.

The Music Hall Girl is a delightful-provoking comedy which pleases its audiences from the start to the close. The specialties are bright and refreshing, especially in the second act, when Miss Lucile Whitecliff, as Polly Beenthere, Harry F. Tyler as Jack Rover, and Jack Usher as Frank Mustgeth, do some very clever solo and trio work. The bill is in three acts, and although the second abounds with more of the musical specialties, the opening and final acts are also enlivened with catchy songs.

Harry Tyler, Jack Usher and Miss Whitecliff form a trio, who take the lead throughout, with Tyler doing the heaviest part in various character comedian hits, as the man who attempts to bring about the marriage of Frank Mustgeth and Miss Polly Beenthere, a daughter who very much wants to marry a drug clerk but whose parents are very much opposed to the match. Usher ably assumes the juvenile role.

It is in scheming to aid the plans of the sweethearts and impersonating various characters that Tyler causes a general misunderstanding between Mr. and Mrs. Beenthere, which is not cleared until the last part of the concluding act, when the parents overhear a discussion between Jack Rover (Tyler), a professional actor, their nephew, Polly Beenthere, and her sweetheart, Jack Usher, discussing progress of the conspiracy. Thereupon the climax.

"Overstocked on ladies' coat coats suits and will sell at special prices. The Bee Hive. 7-31

PREPARING FOR REVISION;
PROGRESSIVES TAKE LEAD.

AFTER CONFERENCE FIGHT WILL START WITH EFFORT TO AMEND THE RULES OF THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—As a result of many conferences among the "progressive" senators initial steps will soon be taken to prepare a way for the consideration of tariff revision scheduled by schedule.

The fight for a downward revision will begin with a determined effort to amend the rules of the senate. Senator Cummins will offer an amendment providing that after a bill has been before a committee for 60 days without any effort to report it shall be in order for any senator to call up the measure, the bill occupying the same status as if it had been reported from the committee, and it will no longer be within the power of the chairman to prevent action. The second charge provides that amendments must be germane to the schedule under consideration.

Agreed With Both.
Horace Greeley was the author of a style in editorial writing which had been often imitated, but probably never equaled. During his editorship two newspapers, neither of which was friendly to Greeley, became engaged in a violent altercation. The argument grew warmer until each paper openly called the other a liar. It was the opportunity Greeley had been waiting for. He announced in his paper that "he had the honor to agree with both of his distinguished contemporaries."

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the state of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are a number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the state is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

SENTIMENT GROWS STRONG FOR HOTEL ORGANIZATION.

ALL PROPRIETORS OF HOTELS AND BOARDING HOUSES URGED TO ATTEND MEETING ON THURSDAY EVENING.

The movement toward an organization to be composed of the hotel and boarding house proprietors of Daytona is gaining and the sentiment has become stronger since the announcement in the Daily News Tuesday that a meeting for the purpose of perfecting the organization will be held in the Despland Thursday evening.

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the benefits to be derived from such an organization, make plans for the future and effect a temporary organization. Further than this no definite plans have been made, but it is urged that every hotel and boarding house proprietor in the city make it a special point to be present at the gathering Thursday evening.

From tentative plans discussed it is believed such an organization in the city will be not only a benefit to the hotel men but a boost for all business interests in Daytona and should receive the support of everybody in the city.

THE BEAUTIFUL

Never lose an opportunity of seeing anything beautiful. Beauty is God's handwriting, a wayside sacrament. Welcome it in every fair face, every fair sky, every fair flower, and drink it in simply and earnestly with your eyes.—Charles Kingsley.

Resolutions of Respect to the Memory of Mrs. Caroline Gove.

At a late meeting of the Ladies' Circle of the Daytona Congregational church a committee was appointed to formulate resolutions of respect and sympathy over the death of Mrs. Caroline Gove.

Following are the resolutions: Whereas, it has pleased God to call from our midst a beloved friend and member of this society;

Resolved, That we lament the great loss that has come to us of one who was a beloved co-worker.

Resolved, That we tender to her husband, Mr. S. H. Gove, and to her son and relatives our heartfelt sympathy in their great bereavement and assure them that we share with them their sorrow in the loss of one whose Christian character and many virtues endeared her to us all.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be printed in the papers of this vicinity and transmitted to Mr. Gove and his family.

ALBERT BENNETT'S NEW HOTEL IN JACKSONVILLE READY TO OPEN ITS DOORS TO THE PUBLIC.

The elegant new hotel Seneca, just completed in Jacksonville and located on the corner of Ocean and Duval streets in that city, will be opened to the public next Saturday, December 10, with C. R. Bennett as manager and E. B. Whitecomb, well known in this city, as clerk. Albert Bennett is the proprietor.

The new hotel contains 37 rooms, all of which are provided with hot and cold running water, steam heat and long distance telephones, in fact the house will have every modern convenience. There are private baths connected with a majority of the rooms, all of which are large and well ventilated.

The hotel will be conducted upon the American plan and Mr. Bennett proposes to give the dining room the same careful attention as was bestowed upon that of his hotel, The Bennett, in this city, and which was a strong factor in its popularity.

An advertisement of the Hotel Seneca will be found in the columns of the Daily News and Mr. Bennett's friends in this city wish him the same complete and deserved success in his new hostelry as he attained with his hotel in this city.

D. A. R.'s at War Over the Matter of a "b" In "Redout"

The Daughters of the American Revolution decided that a monument should be erected on the site of Fort Washington, Manhattan Island, to mark the spot where some 3,000 American troops were forced to surrender to 9,000 British troops under Lord Howe 134 years ago. The site was selected, and when the monument was unveiled it was discovered by some old fashioned spellers that a "b" had been left out of "redout." Half of the Daughters of the American Revolution struck at once. They were not going to have any monument without a "b." Dictionaries were brought into play, and it was shown that the redout without the "b" was the best way to spell the name. But this did not appease the "b" faction. So they are going to get another monument and have a "b" in it and locate the statue a mile and a half away, the real spot, the second faction claims, where the American troops surrendered so long ago.

EDITOR

It is the aim of the Daily News to make all advertisements in its columns profitable not only to the advertisers but to the readers as well.

Some business men claim that people do not read the display advertisements. Some readers admit they do not look at them. The failure to read the ads. is a loss not only to the business men who pay for the space, but it is a loss to the reader as well, for many dollars can be saved by closely perusing the advertisements.

The Daily News wants you to read every ad. and as an inducement it has bought and paid for 400 admission tickets to the Crystal Theater at 15 cents each. Four of these tickets will be given away every day—two to some gentleman and the other two to some lady.

In addition to the four tickets a merchandise order good for 25 cents will be given away to some person every day. This is an order on whatever firm that may be designated in the ad. to deliver to the person designated goods to the value of 25 cents and charge to our account. The notices of these orders will invariably appear in the ad. of the person or firm to whom the order will be directed.

The names of the persons are selected from the personal columns of the previous day's paper and done in a manner that allows of no partiality being shown.

Watch for the coupons.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth, air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straight-away record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobilizing some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors in both towns.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated. The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy.

SWEATING COINS.

Gold Pieces Cleverly Robbed of Their Precious Metal.

THE SYSTEM IS A FINE ART.

Nowadays Chemical Baths, Splitting and Abrasion Take the Place of the Older and Cruder Plugging—Branding the Lightweight Money.

A drilled or "plugged" coin has become something of a curiosity. Every one remembers the inconvenience of these mutilated coins. It was a matter of daily occurrence to find oneself in possession of a silver, gold or even nickel coin defaced in this way. Sometimes the hole was filled with some baser metal; often it was left open. This system of mutilating coins had the advantage, however, of being perfectly obvious, and no careful person need be deceived.

Nowadays the work of defacing coins is reduced to a fine art. The old, crude method of plugging the coins will not suffice, since the general public and the government are far more intolerant of the practice than ever before. If the precious metal is to be robbed from the coins it must be done so cleverly that even the expert will be deceived. It no longer pays to mutilate nickel or even silver coins, so, except in exceptional cases, it is only the gold coins which are mutilated. This practice, commonly known as "sweating," requires considerable skill and the ingenuity displayed is often amazing.

The "sweating" must be done in such a way that the coin will appear perfect, even to the closest observer. The federal government will not permit any gold coin to circulate the weight of which is below the point of legal tolerance, which is fixed at one-half of 1 per cent. If a coin is found to be lighter than this it is stamped with a large L, to indicate its lightness, and is returned to the bank or the individual who last handled it. The only redress of the owner is to have the coins sent to Washington to be reminted. The owner must stand the loss in weight, which is often considerable. In cases where the coin has been "sweated" an investigation may follow, with criminal prosecution.

One of the most insidious methods of "sweating" and perhaps the most difficult of all to detect is the electroplating method. The gold coins are placed in a chemical bath, and part of the gold is detached by electricity and deposited on some other object. In this way the gold is removed with perfect evenness from all parts of the coin.

The letters and general design of the milling may be slightly dulled in the process, but only as it might be from general wear and tear. The lightness of the coin will be detected by the scales at the treasury, but in the meantime such a coin may pass from hand to hand for a long time without arousing suspicion. It is obviously exceedingly difficult to trace the offender.

Another baffling method is to split the coin and remove the gold from the inner surface. The hole is then filled up with some baser metal, so that the weight will be the same, and the two sides are then welded together. It is possible to take a dollar's worth of gold or more in this way from a twenty dollar gold piece. If the work be skillfully done it is impossible to detect such a coin by its weight, and the only clue will be in some flaw in the milling. Naturally it takes a trained, experienced eye to pick out such a coin. Meanwhile the gold piece has probably circulated for days or even months, and it is exceedingly difficult to trace the offender.

One of the commonest methods of "sweating" is to shake up a number of gold coins in a chamois bag and preserve the dust and microscopic particles which have been loosened. The bag is first moistened, so that the gold will adhere to it, and is afterward burned and the gold assayed. The bruises or dents on the coins will appear to have been made in the ordinary handling. The profit from this treatment is small, but many people seem to find profit in it. The question arises if the ingenuity and labor thus expended would not bring a larger return if devoted to some legitimate work.

The men who handle the gold become marvelously expert in detecting the "sweated" coins. In handling millions of dollars' worth of gold a defaced coin will rarely get past them. The coins are spread out in trays before them and turned over and the light coins picked out. A slight flaw in the milling, a dulled appearance of the lettering or a suspicious nick on the surface will be quickly identified. As a final test the scales, which will weigh a single hair, are resorted to, and if the slightest discrepancy can be found every coin is examined separately until the faulty one has been discovered.—New York Times.

Quite a Distinction.
"If you will be very careful to eat plain food," said the physician, "you will enjoy good health."
"If I have to eat plain food," answered the epicure, "I may have good health, but I won't enjoy it."

THE VEILED PROPHECY.

He Was the Most Noted Impostor of the Middle Ages.

The celebrated "Veiled Prophet" of history was a Moslem fanatic whose real name was Hakeem Ibn Hassem. He was born about the middle of the eighth century and became the most noted impostor of the middle ages. He pretended that he was an embodiment of the spirit of the "Living God" and, being very proficient in jugglery (which the ignorant mistook for the power to work miracles), soon drew an immense number of followers around him. He always wore a gold mask, claiming that he did so to protect the mortals of this earth, who, he said, could not look upon his face and live.

At last, after thousands had quitted the city and even left the empire of the Caliph al Mohdi to join the fanatical movement, an army was sent against the "Veiled Prophet," forcing him to flee for safety to the castle at Keh, north of the Orms. Finally, when ultimate defeat was certain, the prophet killed and burned his whole family and then threw himself into the flames, being entirely consumed, except his hair, which was kept in a museum at Bagdad until the time of the crusades. He promised his faithful followers that he would reappear to them in the future dressed in white and riding a white horse.

"Then you were disappointed in your first glimpse of Spain?" "I admit I was somewhat surprised. I thought everybody carried a guitar."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had so few children she didn't know what to do.
But just as she thought she must surely begin to give up to despair votes for women came in.

ORANGE GROVES

ORANGE GROVES are a main feature of Daytona Beach, located on the west bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect maturation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Daytona Beach. Many fine homes are maintained on either side of the river, most of them surrounded by a tropical flora, all shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

Ormond has many attractions—excellent automobile, golf, fishing, safe housing, and many pleasant drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, the Daytona Inn. The Ormond occupies a position overlooking the Halifax, and the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

Besides the hotel, smooth beach there are many drive-in carriages and automobiles around Ormond—drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient slave-way built by slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of the most interesting of these plantations is at the headwaters of the Halifax and known as Moundgrove. It is one of the finest orange groves on the East Coast of Florida and is amid very pretty surroundings. Moundgrove is on the Daytona-Saint Augustine road.

STATESMEN AND AUTHORS PAY TRIBUTE TO MARK TWAIN

Speaker Cannon and His Prospective Successor, Champ Clark, Among
the Eulogists.

Howells, Watterson and Choate Praise Friend,
While Gathering Applauds Anecdotes.

MARK TWAIN.

By Professor HENRY VAN DYKE
of Princeton.

WE knew you well, dear Yorick
of the west.
The very soul of large and friendly jest.

That loved and mocked the broad grotesque of things
In this new world where all the folks are kings.

Your breezy humor cleared the air with sport
Of shams that haunt the democrac-ic court.
For even where the sovereign people rule
A human monarch needs a royal fool.

Your native drawl lent flavor to your wit.
Your arrows lingered, but they always hit.
Homeric mirth around this circle
ran,
But left no wound upon the heart of man.

We knew you, kind in trouble,
brave in pain.
We saw your honor kept without a stain.
We read this lesson of our Yorick's years:
True wisdom comes with laughter and with tears.

AFTER the manner which his dearest friends said he would have ordered Mark Twain's memory was revered recently in New York city by an assemblage of men and women most distinguished in arts, literature, the sciences and the professions in America.

There wasn't a note of sadness struck during the evening. Speeches rich in eulogy were made, but they were of the kind that brought smiles instead of tears. Two former neighbors of the famous humorist told the audience which filled auditorium, boxes and galleries in Carnegie hall that Mark Twain was quite ready to die; that he had passed on willingly, almost eagerly, after having made all the world laugh. So the purpose of the ceremonies was to further perpetuate the reign of light heartedness which had been Mark Twain's mission in life.

Great as a Lobbyist.

Authors, statesmen, a minister, a poet, told new stories about Mark Twain. Old ones were recounted and received with an acclaim which proved that a Twain story never grows old. Champ Clark, the Missourian who may be Uncle Joe Cannon's successor, praised Mark Twain as the greatest lobbyist who ever won over the house. Uncle Joe told how Mark Twain disrupted Uncle Sam's representatives with broadsides of good humor which sent the copyright bill to victory. Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to the court of St. James, revealed himself in the merriest of moods as he told of Mark Twain's activities tickling John Bull's ribs.

William Dean Howells in the opening address voiced the keynote of the meeting when he said:

"If the mood and make of our commemoration could be left to Mark Twain we might imagine him saying: 'Why, of course you mustn't make a solemnity of it; you mustn't have it that sort of obsequy. I should want you to be serious about me—that is, sincere, and you couldn't be sincere if you ran to eulogy. But we don't object here to any man's affection; we like to be liked as well as ever, and if any of you can remember some creditable thing about me I shouldn't mind his telling it, provided always he didn't blink the palliating circumstances, the mitigating motives, the selfish considerations that accompany every noble action.'

Twain Easily Satisfied.

"I shouldn't like to be made out a miracle of humor either and left a stumbling block for any one who was intending to be moderately amusing and instructive hereafter. At the same time I don't suppose a commemoration is exactly the occasion for dwelling on a man's shortcomings in his life or his literature or for realizing that he has entered upon an immortality of oblivion."

Mr. Choate recalled an occasion when

NAPOLEON'S FLAG IS FOUND.

Emblem of Chasseurs-a-Cheval Discarded For Tricolor.

Another relic of Napoleon has been found in a small town in the south of France. It is a green silk flag embroidered with the famous golden bees and a hunting horn, the banner of Napoleon's favorite regiment, the chasseurs-a-cheval.

He carried a flag of this description when he effected his escape from the Isle of Elba in 1815 and laid it down soon after landing to take up the tricolor. It is believed that this is the very flag that he carried.

India Second in Cotton.

India now ranks next to the United States as a cotton producing nation.

he and Mark Twain were together in St. George's chapel, London, one hot day, both seemingly sobered by the solemnity of the place.

"What an awful thing it is!" Twain began in a whisper.

Mr. Choate said he leaned closer to catch some ponderously sad expression from the humorist.

"What an awful thing it is," Twain repeated, "to be shut up in a place where one cannot smoke!"

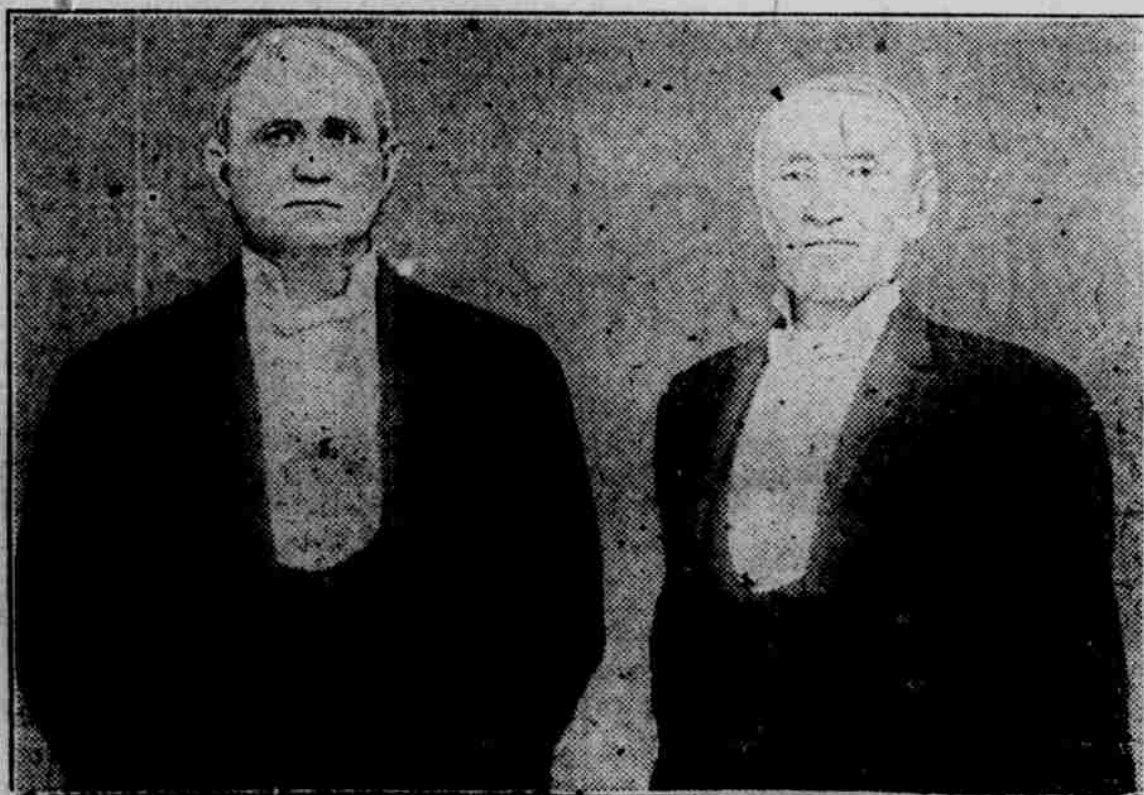

Twain once told Mr. Choate that a classical scholar tried to prove the origin of the story of the "Champion Jumping Frog" was found in writings of a Latin author. Twain listened to the reading of the ancient tale and exclaimed:

"Yes, sir; that's my frog!"

Mr. Choate sponsored the opinion that the worth of Twain's story having been recognized, some enterprising publisher inserted it in the later editions of the classics and thus was born the charge that Twain was a plagiarist.

Hobnobbed With Wales.

The Rev. Joseph Hopkins Twichell, for many years one of the humorist's closest friends, described the satisfaction with which Twain received evidences that he had been admitted into the literary guild. This satisfaction, however, never threatened his modesty or naturalness. Some time after fame had crowned him Twain received a summons while in Homburg, Germany, to spend the afternoon with the then Prince of Wales, who later was King Edward VII.

Mr. Twichell said he would never forget the picture of the prince and Twain strolling along the walks of the watering place, Twain waving an unusually disreputable looking umbrella as he shuffled along, punctuating remarks for the benefit of dignified royalty.

Twain had broad sympathies, but sometimes got peevish. "He once exclaimed to me," Mr. Twichell said, "Oh, this infernal human race! I wish I had it in the ark again—with an anchor. Would you—would you, I ask—start the human race again if you had it to do?"

On another occasion Twain said: "Nothing makes me feel quite so mean as to have my wife think I am so much better than I am."

Speaker Cannon was presented by Mr. Howells as another man besides Mark Twain who loved his cigar. The speaker said that many years before any one else present was born he used to hear the Mississippi pilots sing out, "Mark twain, mark twain!" meaning a depth of two fathoms of water, but he didn't think then that a man would spring up who would make those words famous throughout the world.

Defeated Speaker Cannon.

Mr. Cannon told how Mark Twain had gone to Washington to "lobby—yes, to lobby," repeated Speaker Cannon, in the interest of an amendment

BATHTUBS GOOD COAL BINS.

Steel Trust Finds Hygienic Benevolence Is Unappreciated.

After three years of experimenting the United States Steel corporation has come to the conclusion that its foreign workmen at Gary, Ind., do not bathe. Instead it has been found that they have used the expensive bathtubs purchased for them as storing places for potatoes, coal and old clothes. Sixty tubs were placed in as many houses.

Finding that its attempts at education in the use of bathtubs are futile, the big corporation will place no more in the houses it erects for its foreign workmen.

Shower baths will be substituted, as they cannot be used for storage bins.

to the copyright law. The humorist frankly said he wanted to protect his and his children's rights against "pirates."

Mr. Cannon said Mark Twain had a burning desire to appear on the floor of the house of representatives and argue his cause. The humorist came to see him about it, and the speaker told him it could not be done, as such a thing had never been done. He told him that none but members and ex-members had the privilege of the floor of the house. The only precedents in the cases of others were where persons had received the thanks of congress.

Soon after this Mark Twain himself brought to his desk a letter addressed to the speaker. Here is the letter:

Dec. 7.
Dear Uncle Joseph—Please get me the thanks of congress; not next week, but right away. It is very necessary. Do accomplish this at once, by persuasion if you can, by violence if you must, for it is absolutely necessary that I get on the floor for two or three hours and talk to the congressmen man by man. I have arguments with me; also a barrel with liquid in it. I have stayed away from congress and let it alone for seventy-one years, and I am entitled to its thanks. Congress knows this well, and it never has publicly acknowledged its appreciation. Send me a reply at once with an order on the sergeant-at-arms. With love and benediction. MARK TWAIN.

Uncle Joe told of surrendering to Mark Twain his private office and a messenger. The latter went on the floor, carried messages from Twain to the members, and the humorist soon got more than enough votes to pass his bill.

Watterson Praises Author's Wife.

In his address "Marse" Henry Watterson paid a notable tribute to the humorist's life and particularly to the estimable qualities of Mrs. Clemens.

"His marriage," said Mr. Watterson, "was the most brilliant success of his life. He got the woman of all the world he most needed; a truly lovely and wise helpmate, who kept him in bounds and headed him straight and right while she lived, the best of housewives and mothers and the safest of counselors and soundest of critics. She knew his worth; she understood his genius; she clearly saw his limitations and angles. Her death was

BURN YOUR BRIDGES.

When All Retreat Is Cut Off, Then
You Must Go Ahead.

Young men often make the mistake when they start on an important undertaking of leaving open a way of retreat if things go too hard, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. No one can call out his greatest reserves, do the greatest thing possible to him, while he knows that if the battle gets too hot he has a line of retreat still left open. Only when there is no hope of escape will an army fight with that spirit of desperation which gives no quarter.

Many a great general in his march on the enemy has burned his bridges behind him, cut off his only possible retreat, for the bracing, encouraging effect upon himself and his army, because he knew that men only call out their greatest reserves of power when all retreat is cut off and when fighting desperately for that which they count dearer than life.

We are so made that as long as there is a chance to retreat, as long as there are bridges behind us, we are tempted to turn back when the great test comes.

"Will you hold this fort?" asked General Rosecrans of General Pierce at Stone river. "I will try, general." "Will you hold this fort?" "I will die in the attempt." "That won't do. Look me in the eye, sir, and tell me if you will hold this position." "I will!" said General Pierce, and he did.

THEY SEPARATED.

But the Parting Was More Strenuous
Than Jim Expected.

A man named Roynor when gold hunting in Alaska had as partner a venerable prospector, who went about habitually with his boot legs stuffed full of dynamite sticks. The old man had a pleasantly casual way of filling the stove oven with these sticks in order that they might thaw out there. Sometimes, too, he forgot them, which was imprudent, to say the least. Roynor was not at all of a timorous disposition, but the ancient prospector's reckless carelessness troubled his nerves. He remonstrated with him repeatedly and strenuously, but his protest did not seem to have the slightest effect.

"Jim," he said finally when driven to desperation, "if you can't be more careful with that dynamite we'll have to separate."

That night as he approached the shack a terrific concussion rent the air and knocked him insensible. When he recovered consciousness he perceived one of the aged prospector's legs lying near. He stared at it a moment meditatively.

"Well, Jim," he remarked at last sadly, "I guess we've managed to separate all right, particularly you, Jim!"—Minneapolis Journal.

The negro preacher is noted for his enthusiasm and his picturesque, almost poetic, way of expressing things. In "Life in Old Virginia" J. J. McDonald tells about a colored minister who was conducting a revival without much success. At last, however, he awakened his congregation by asking:

"Does yo' know what eternity is? Well, I tell yo'."

"If one of dem 'll' sparrows what yo' see round yo' garden bushes was to dip his bill in de 'Lantic ocean an' take one hop a day an' hop 'cross de country an' put dat drop of water into de 'Cific ocean an' den he hop back to de 'Lantic ocean—jes' one hop a day—an' if he keep dat hoppin' up twell de 'Lantic ocean wuz dry as a bone, it wouldn't be break o' day in eternity."

"Dar, now," said one of the brethren, "yo' see for yo'self how long eternity is."

A Tribute to Woman.

When everything around a man staggers and wavers, when all seems dark and dim in the far distance of the unknown future, when the world seems but a picture or a fairy tale and the universe a chimera, when the whole structure of ideas vanishes in smoke and all certainties become enigmatical, what is the only permanent thing which may still be his? The faithful heart of a woman. There he may rest his head; there he will renew his strength for the battle of life, increase his faith in Providence and, if need be, find strength to die in peace with a benediction on his lips.—Henri Frederic Amiel.

Easy Marks.

"Talk about yore easy marks," said Uncle Silas Geehaw, who had been passing a week in the city, "us rubes ain't in it with them air teoww chaps."

"Did yew sell 'em enny gold bricks, Silas?" queried old Daddy Squashneck. "Naw, I didn't," answered Uncle Silas, "but I seed a feller peddlin' artificial ice—hed th' sign right on his wagon—an' blamed ef th' chumps did not buy it fer th' real thing, by grass!"—Chicago News.

Lots of Nerve.

Farmer's Son—My father sent me over to borrow your horse and cart. She—Goodness! Why, he already has all our tools, our axes, our hay-rakes and—

He—I know. He just wants the horse and cart to bring them back.—London Telegraph.

A Baser Motive.

"Yes, he played the last two acts with a broken wrist."

"Heroism, eh?"

"Not at all. He was afraid to give his understudy a chance."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sooner or later the world comes around to see the truth and do the right.—Hillard.

FIRST SERIES OF WINTER CALLS FOR SIX GOOD ACTS DIRECT FROM BEST HOUSES IN NEW YORK CITY.

The first of the series of vaudeville shows which will be given in this city this winter by the managers of the Daytona theater will be presented next Friday evening. This series of vaudeville shows has been secured at a considerable expense by Managers Snead & Morris with the idea of giving the people of Daytona the best in this line or none at all. An especially good attraction has been provided in the opening number by Johnnie Ray to give an insight to what is to follow during the winter.

The acts will include Billy Morris and Sherwood Sisters, a comedy black face act of singing and dancing, and is a sure hit.

high class comedy musical act with beautiful electrical effects and good wardrobe, including five trio numbers, two solos, a violin solo and a saxophone solo.

Miss Leona Stephens, the original Boogie Boo Girl and late star of the Newlyweds Company.

Wayne & Marshall, high class singing, talking and dancing act.

Harry Antrim, mimic and comedian.

A special extra attraction, "The Melba of Vaudeville," the Baroness Von Zieber, military band prima donna. Some of the musical organizations with which she has toured include the Royal Court band of Vienna, Sousa's and Salem Cadet band and the Royal Kitten band. Her voice is of remarkable sweetness and vocalization is equally noteworthy. The range of her voice is large, from low F to high D. She is a large, handsome woman, of fine figure and imposing presence, and she wears elaborate costumes.

Snead and Morris have engaged this vaudeville at considerable expense and will present it to their patrons at popular prices.

The theater ferry will leave Daytona Beach at 7:30, so that all the people of Seabreeze and Daytona Beach will have an opportunity to see high class vaudeville as well as the citizens and tourists of Daytona.

TO GET MERCHANDISE FREE
THROUGH THE DAILY NEWS.

ANOTHER COUPON SCHEME IN-AUGURATED BY THIS NEWSPAPER TO INTEREST ALL READERS AND BUSINESS ADVERTISERS.

Today the Daily News is inaugurating a new plan to interest its readers and advertisers in publishing somewhere in the paper a coupon which will entitle the person whose name appears therein to an order for 25 cents in merchandise if presented at the store or business place, which is also named in the coupon.

This scheme is being used by the Daily News to stimulate interest among its readers and in a small way boost business among its advertisers. The orders will have the full face value of 25 cents at the store named when presented by the person also named in the coupon, and this merchandise will be paid for by the Daily News.

There is no lottery or hit or miss game connected with this, but it is a straight business proposition. The business men of the city of Daytona are loyally supporting the Daily News this winter and the paper proposes to do all within its power to boost the interests of the business people who are making it possible for the residents of the city to have a first class daily newspaper during the winter season.

The amount of the value of the coupon is small, but it is a step in the right direction and may lead to greater things. It will give an added impetus to the people who read the paper to consume every line of type on every page and the publisher of the paper hopes the plan will meet with the approval of the readers and merchants.

The plan is the same by which the Daily News is every day distributing four free tickets to the Crystal theater. These tickets are paid for in cash by the Daily News and are given absolutely free to the persons named in the coupons.

Looking around us we see persons in middle life, along with poor vision who enjoying normal sight if they consulted a competent Optometrist, sure you are on the safe side, you think your eyes are failing, me advise what is best.

Dr. Neville H. Clark
Optometrist

Meet Ars.
Some are bald from years that war on locks of gray.
Some get bald at middle age.
And some are born that way.
—Cleveland Leader

A Brief Poem.
The following poem under the title of "The Ancient Origin of Mankind" is accepted:

Adam
Had 'em.
—Bonner Springs (Kan.) Chief

Ancient and Modern.
The ox eyed maids of other days
Were beautiful, 'trow.
But could they reach the peroxide
Beauties we have now?
—Chicago News

Drove Him Insane.
"What affected this man's mind?"
"He was the manager of an all star theatrical troupe and went crazy trying to give every member a stage dressing room and the best billboard prominence."—Detroit Free Press

New Opportunities.
The folly that will never be still
New plans may now commence.
The man who rocks the airship will Be next in evidence.
—Washington Star

Foolish.
Howell—Did you ever actually kiss a girl for her mother?
Powell—My boy, you talk like a census enumerator.—New York Press
